DR. GREENE'S NERVINA

Blood and Nerve Remedy.

The Greatest Health Builder in the World.

Man formerly worshipped slender, delicate women, pale of face and weak of spirit, who shuddered at the bee-blee and fainted at a mouse. That was long ago. The world turns round now. To-day, the ideal woman is one ofaddy cheek, wind-tossed hair, magnificent curves, and nervesand strength that can win a golf game. All hail to the woman of health, of strong nerve, and true blood! She is the sort ofwoman who knows the value of remedy like Dr. Greene's Nervina blood and nerve remedy, and takes it at this time of year to brighten her eye, clear her skin, purify her blood, and invigorate her nerves. It is good for the weak, the nervous, the pale, the trembling, of either sex. It will cure any weakness or disease of the nerves or blood, and everybody ought to take it at this season of the year. It means clean blood, keen nerves, brilliant spirits—real health.

Mrs. JENNIE VAN ORMAN, Chula, Vt., says:—"I was very nervous, and could not sleep nights, had nervous prostration twice which left me in shape. My condition was extremely low, and I was afraid I was coming down with nervous prostration. I resolved to try Dr. Greene's Nervina blood and nerve remedy, which I had heard so highly spoken of, but had not tried before. My highest expectations were realized in the result, as my nerves were quieted, and I am quite free from all nervous troubles." I can truly and emphatically say that Dr. Greene's Nervina is a most excellent medicine and I cheerfully recommend it to everyone who suffers as she did.

There are many cases of a complex character which patients cannot fully understand. Dr. Greene cordially invites all such sufferers to consult with him fully and freely, personally or by mail, at his office, 38 West 14th St., New York City. There is no charge for advice, and all consultations are strictly confidential.

THREW A KISS IN COURT.

A young Maiden Shocked at a Show of Force in Young Men's Affection.

HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 17.—Another kiss-case came to the attention of the Judge of the New Haven police court to-day and the offender was promptly placed under heavy bonds for his osculatory demonstration. Not more than a week ago May Carroll, one of the prettiest women of the town, and a Yale law student, stood disavowed kissing on the steps of New Haven and its environs. She ordered the pair sent to jail for thirty days.

The case was appealed to a higher court. Bonds of $150 in each case were required, else new case would trial because the accused forced the suit of matrimony, paying $500 for his kiss.

Harry Chappel, 22 years of age, and Marie, a local beauty, twenty years, were in the police court charged with immoral conduct. They saw some distance apart in the courtroom, naturally waiting for the day to call their cases. Occasionally they met each other, but they were not allowed to talk. The judge, watching them and he had seen them when young Chappel threw a stone at a girl on the street, and he thought the case of both were continued for further hearing.

MARK MASON AND DIXON'S LINE.

Pennsylvania Asks Maryland to Stir Herself and Put Out Major Dixon.

KRISTENBURG, Pa., Jan. 17.—Major L. B. Dixon, Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs, has addressed a letter to Maryland's attorney general asking for the status of the bill submitted to the Maryland Legislature appropriating $5,000 for that State's share of most of resurveying and restoring the old Mason and Dixon line, defining the boundary between the two States. The Pennsylvania Legislature passed a bill appropriating $5,000 for this State's part of the work, conditioned upon the adoption of a similar measure by the Maryland Legislature.

The original survey measurements were taken from England. A number of those marks have since been lost or destroyed, and away causing troublesome complications. Farmers owning land along the border of the two States, these relic hunters partially obliterated the line have come to the cause of the inconvenience resulting from the loss of the original measurements. The Pennsylvania and Maryland authorities on the subject of a restoration of the line. The Governor of Maryland, however, has refused to give a geologist of Maryland, that in running new line intermediate marks should be set up in the country, and the line with favor.

CONCERT MASTER TRIES TO DIE.

Bild, Who Once Played in Theodore Thomas's Orchestra, Ruined By Liquor.

RICHMOND, Va., a violinist occupying a furnished room at 147 East Twenty-seventh street, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon by drinking whisky with pepper. He was found lying on the floor with a penknife in his wrist with the police that ten days ago was the concert master of Theodore Thomas's orchestra and one of the soloists began to drink and lost his position, and he had been supporting himself by giving lessons.

Yesterday afternoon Bild refused to see any pupils. One by one they called and were told that he had died. His friends went to his room and began to play weird music. About eight o'clock one of the pupils said that there was a man in the room. He looked through the door and saw a man sitting. He told the landlady she called in a policeman, who in turn, took him to an ambulance from police headquarters. The Christian, who came with it, dressed him in the coat of arms of the city. He was taken to the East Thirty-third street station locked up as a suspicious person. The police officer told him that his friends to see saying that he was too badly intoxicated.

CARA REDMOND'S DEATH.

Dying That Her Mother Is Dying She Drinks Carbolic Acid.

CARA Redmond, aged 19, took poison at No. Sixty-third street yesterday morning. She had been with the man she calls herself Cara, with another woman in a hotel. She suddenly went out of the room. She came immediately with burned lips and announced that she had drunk carbolic acid. A policeman, who was called in, made an attempt to get her out of the house, but she refused to leave until she had drunk it. Then he took her to Roosevelt Hospital. She rode in the house where she came not long ago and a small connective town.
